Thanks, Charlie, for keeping on top of trail coverage like this. Of course they feel like it's moving too fast. At all is too fast to an amazing number of people in this state. The first I heard about this meeting was from a Globe reporter working on a follow up to the Minuteman conflict article. The anti-trail people seem to be able to complain both that the trail is moving ahead too fast and that there isn't any planning being done and that the open meetings aren't open enough only because they themselves aren't all on it making the decision to abandon the trail indefinitely. I'm fed up with this kind of coverage at a time when most of our trail problems are caused by crowding due to there not being enough of them.
